ROAR STREET JOURNAL

Life Viewed From Above

I was born into a very tall family.

Sometimes, being tall is not as fun as everyone thinks.

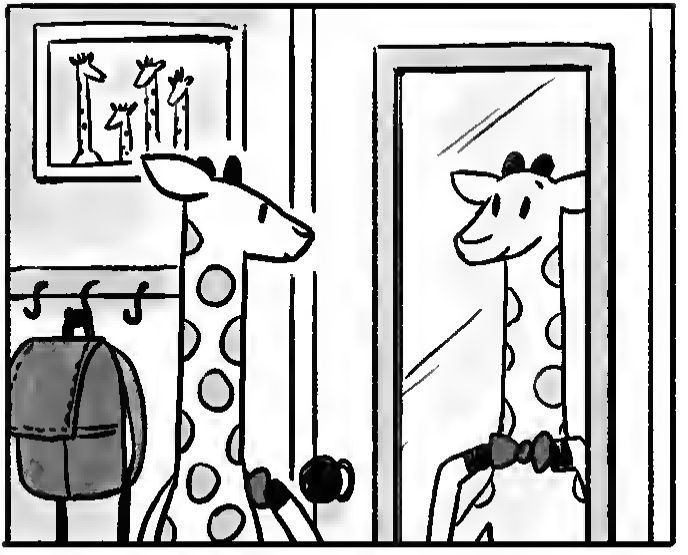
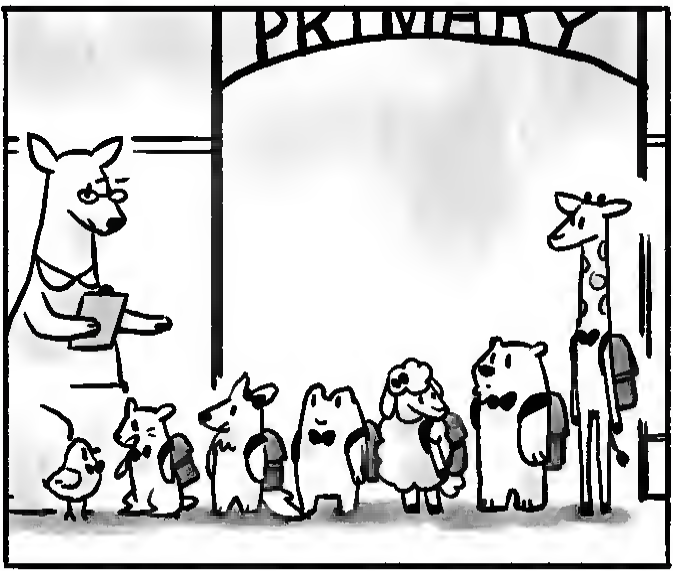
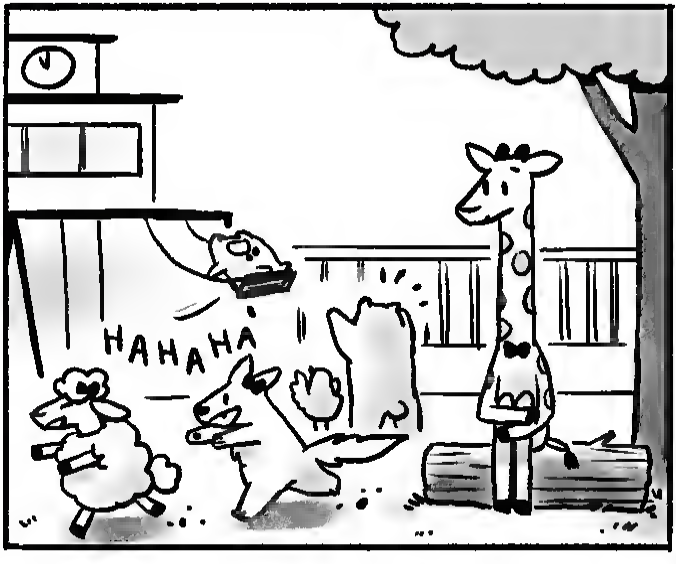
I didn't get to choose the length of my neck.



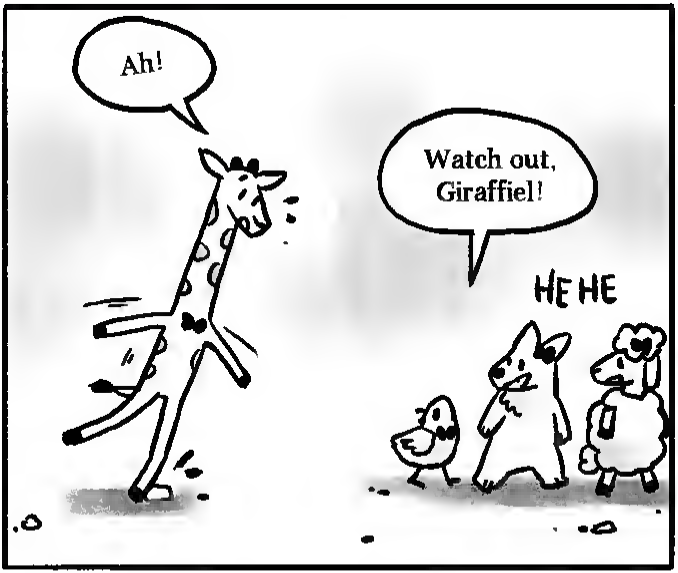
I always stood in the last place at school.



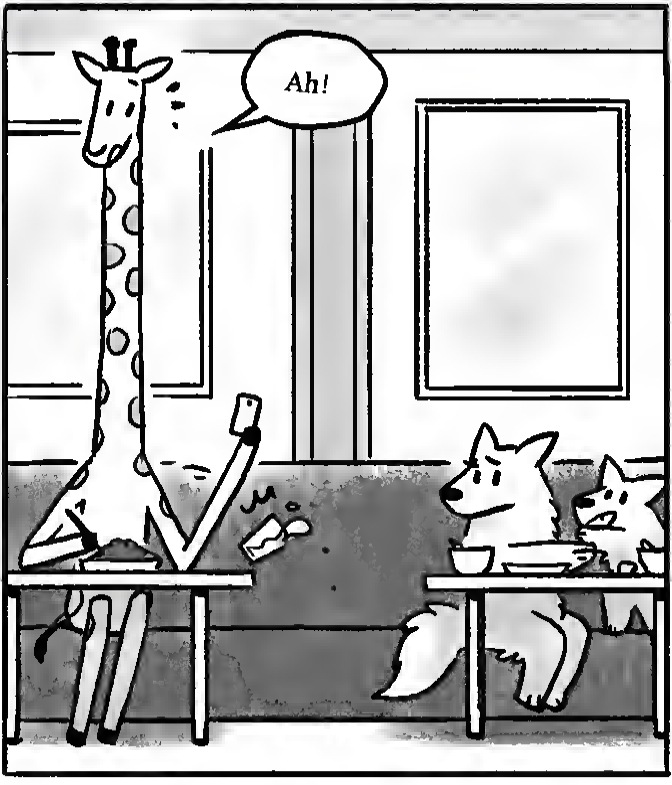
My classmates didn't talk to me
because I was too tall.



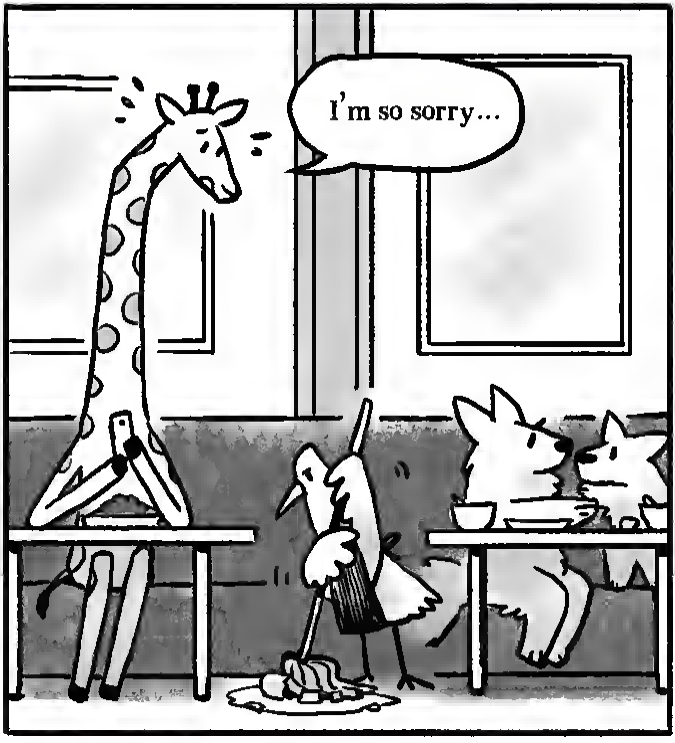
I couldn't see things close to my feet,
so I was always the center of laughter.



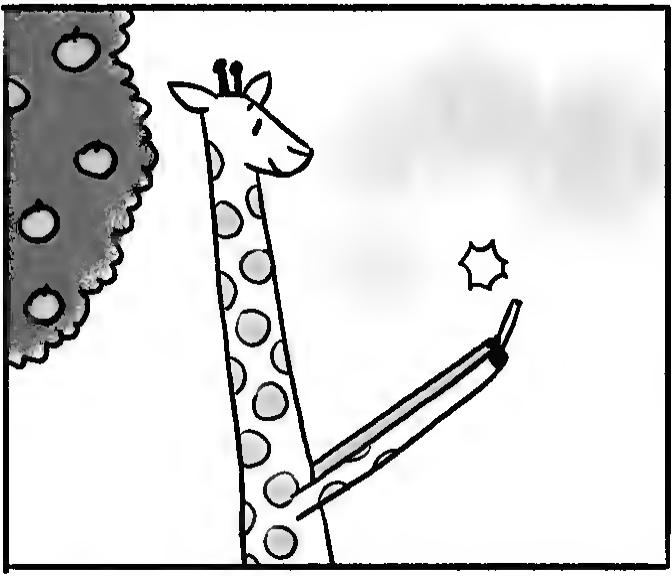
After I grew up,
I'm still clumsy with my long limbs.

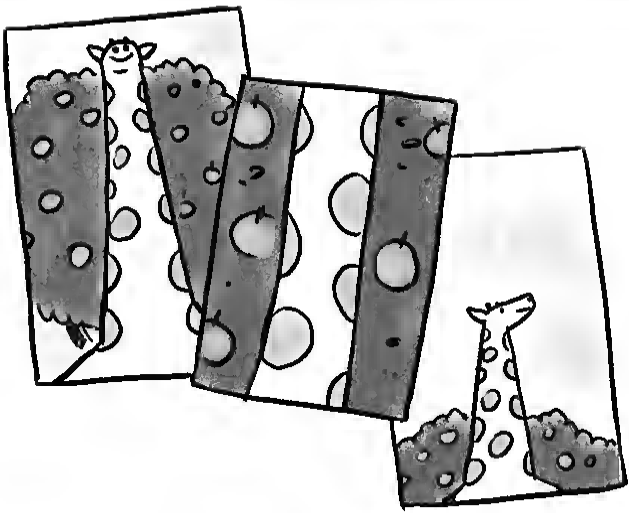


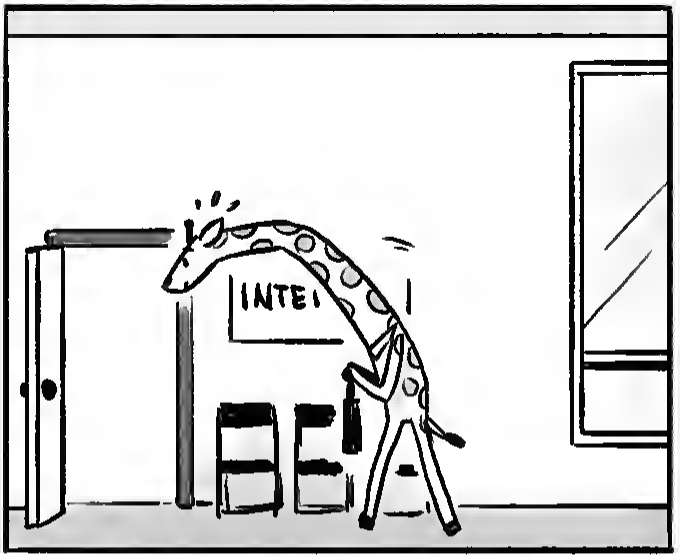
Ah!



I can't even take a selfie properly.



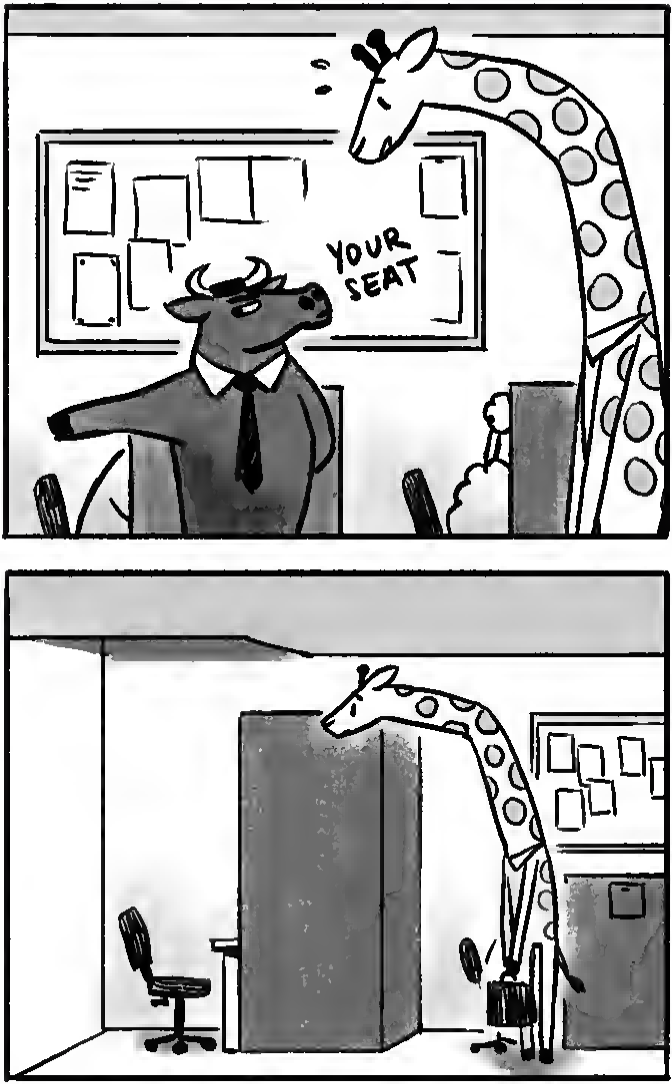




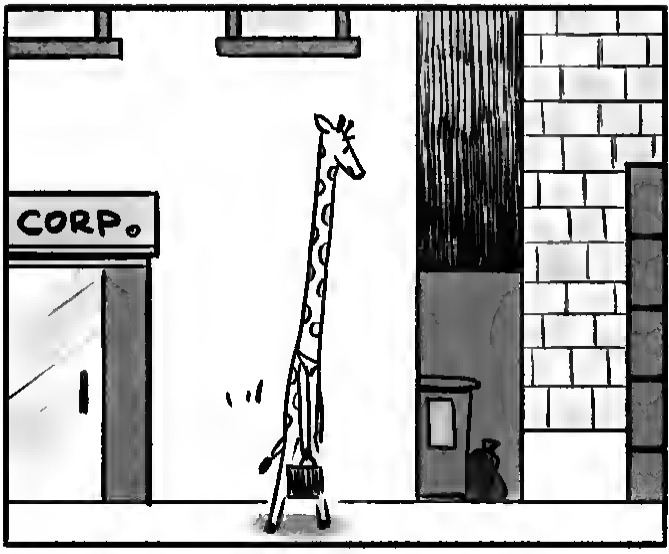
Sometimes, I wish I wasn't so tall.

I have problems getting a job.

My mum used to tell me
"stand straight and keep your head up!"
but that didn't make things better.

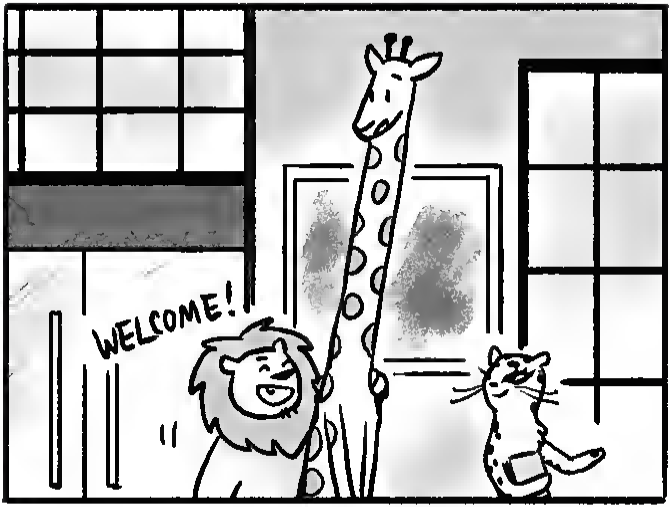


YOUR SEAT

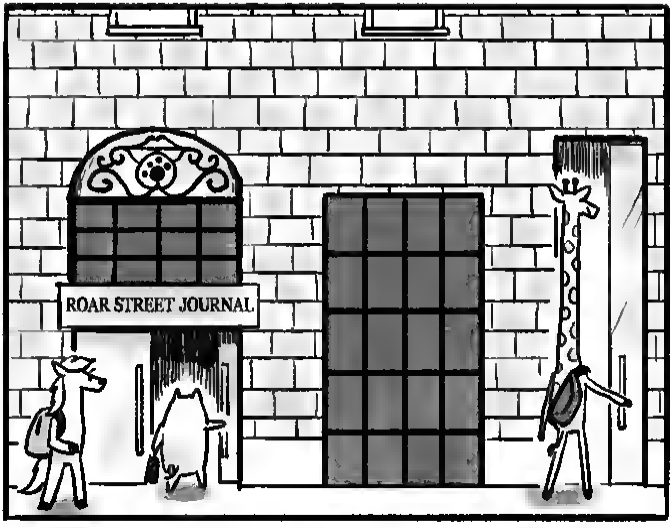


But that was in the past.

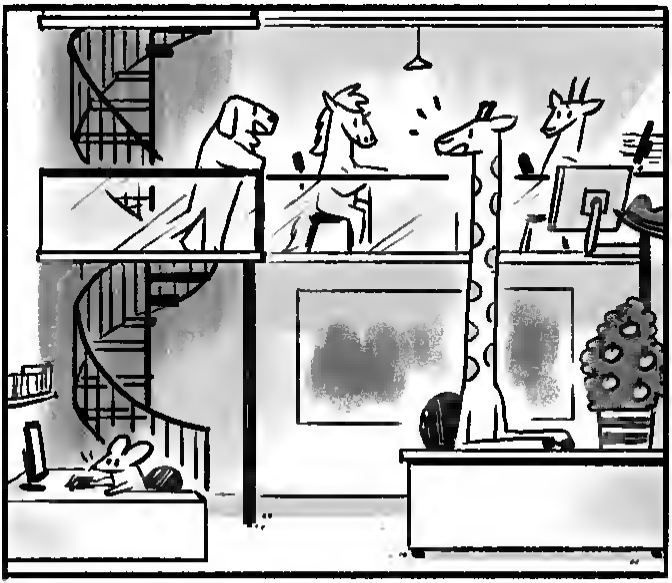
Some time ago,
I got the best job in the world.



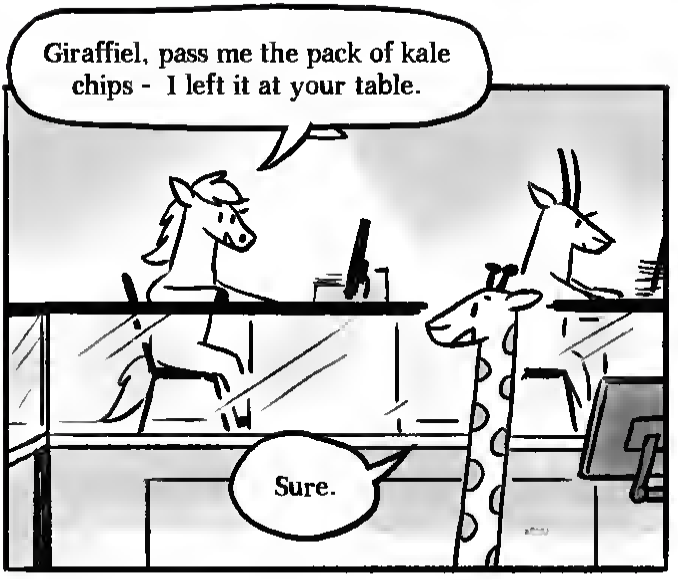
Now I can be the first in line.



I can talk to everyone around me.



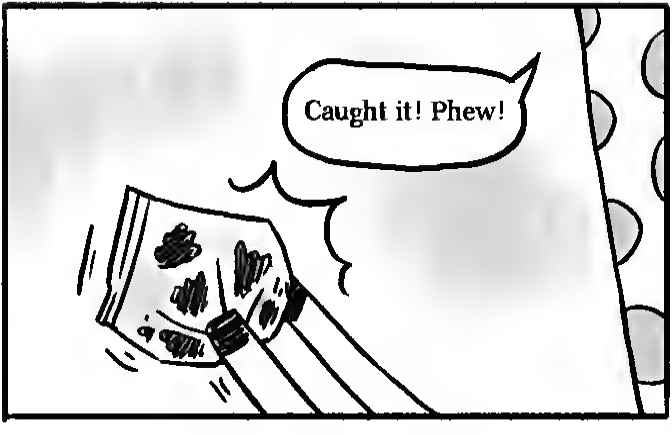
I can make good use of my long limbs.



I'm still clumsy, but I'm trying to improve.

Here.

Ah!



Caught it! Phew!

Hey Giraffiel,
we need your help!
